

‘This is an important book, which should be read worldwide.’

Charlie Simpson, The Shetland Times

“With characteristically clear insight, John tackles some of the biggest and most controversial issues facing the seafood industry. This book is an essential read for anybody who is involved with the production of seafood, whether from the industry or from an NGO perspective.”

Mike Mitchell, Fishing News

“Food from the Sea is such a refreshing read. This should be required reading for fisheries managers, and for anyone who aspires to stand up and pontificate about fishing and aquaculture.”

Quentin Bates, Hook and Line

“John once again magnificently entertains and informs us about this vital and colourful aspect of our nations life”

Alexander McCall Smith, author of the 44 Scotland Street series

‘This is a genuinely important book that explains why seafood is the key to the feeding of our densely populated world.’

Professor David Abulafia, author of The Boundless Sea

“John is a masterful story teller.”

Robert Howes, Marine Stewardship Council